DETAILED ACTION

1. This application is in condition for allowance except for the following formal matters:

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: On page 4 line 9, statement "the then" should be changed to "than". Further more, on the same page line 26, statement "the then" should be changed to "the". Appropriate correction is required.

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc..

Claim Objections

3. The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

4. Misnumbered claim 15 (line 8 on page 24) needs to be numbered as 16. Appropriate correction is required.

Prosecution on the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 25 USPQ 74, 453 O.G. 213, (Comm'r Pat. 1935).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this action is set to expire TWOMONTHS from the mailing date of this letter.

Allowable Subject Matter

- 5. Claims 1-19 are allowed.
- 6. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Smith et al. (US Patent No. 6,862,298) teach adaptive jitter buffer for internet telephony according to claims 1 and 11. However, portion of claims 1 and 11 have been found to be novel and inventive because prior art of record fails to teach a histogram module coupled to each of the output time stamp index and the delay calculation module, the histogram module and method for periodically calculating a target delay value which, based on a buffered history of values representing the delay value of each of a fixed quantity of the most recently received frames from the sequence of receive frames, would have resulted in a predetermined portion of the fixed quantity of frames being dropped, adjusting the jitter buffer latency value to a value equal to the target value, and providing the jitter buffer latency value to the output time stamp index in combination with all other limitations as recited in independent claims 1 and 11.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Ortiz (US Patent Application No. 2004/0052209) teaches methods and systems for jitter minimization in streaming media

Pang et al. (US Patent Application No. 2003/0112758) teach methods and systems for managing variable delays in packet transmission

POGREBINSKY, et al. (US Patent Application No. 2002/0101885) teach JITTER

BUFFER AND METHODS FOR CONTROL OF SAME

Borella, et al. (US Patent No. 6,434,606) teach system for real time communication buffer management
